Protect one of your most valuable assets: your identity.

For about $40 per year and no deductible, identity restoration coverage can be added to your homeowners', condo or renters' policy.

If your identity is stolen, a team takes care of the legwork to help restore your credit rating and good name – you don't even have to take phone calls. You may also be reimbursed, up to $25,000, for covered expenses such as:

Attorney's fees

Covers attorney's costs if lawsuits are brought against you by merchants or collection agencies, if you need help to remove inaccurate criminal or civil judgments or to challenge information contained in your credit report.

Lost wages (up to $250 a day/$5,000 cap)

Helps cover wages or salary you may lose if you need to take time off work to deal with identity theft issues.

Loan reapplication fees

Covers costs if you need to reapply for loans you're denied solely because the lender received incorrect information due to identity theft.

Other expenses

Covers incidental costs, like postage and phone calls, involved in restoring your identity.

You don't have to do it alone.

Allstate identity restoration coverage also helps pay for the cost of hiring a firm to address your identity theft issues. You'll have up to $2,000 available to pay for a firm to help you:

- Fill out paperwork, including police reports
- Issue a fraud alert to the three major credit bureaus as well as the Social Security Administration, Federal Trade Commission, U.S. Postal Service, financial institutions and credit card companies
- Review your credit history to verify if fraud has affected your public records, credit accounts or errors with address/prior employment
- Work with the three major credit bureaus to restore the accuracy of your credit history
- Trace Social Security numbers, notify and work with the Department of Motor Vehicles, collection agencies and law enforcement

In addition, Allstate may refer you to a firm that specializes in addressing these issues.
